In this multi-media lecture and discussion, author and activist Carol J. Adams offers an ecofeminist analysis of the interconnected oppressions of sexism, racism, and speciesism. Adams discusses the animalizing of women in contemporary cultural images and the sexualizing of animals used for food.